GLENFARCLAS

Glenfarclas whiskies are amongst the best from Speyside. Meaning valley of the green grass the distillery is about one mile from the river. The water is drawn from heather hills of Ben Rinnes leading to big, complex malts that can be sherryish. A definite must for after dinner.

Glenfarclas 30y.o. 43.0% £55.00

GLENFIDDICH

The biggest selling malt whisky in the world coming from the glen of the river Fiddich near Dufftown. The name Fiddich indicates that the river runs through the valley of the deer, hence the emblem of the stag. When young, a dry, fruity aperitif. When more mature a raisiny, chocolatey after dinner malt.

HIGHLANDS

DALWHINNIE

The highest distillery in Scotland, set between the Monadhliath Mountains, the forest of Atholl, the Cairngorms and the Grampians. Its name is Gaelic for meeting place. A member of the classic range it is remarkably smooth, with long lasting flavour. Aromatic, heather honey notes give way to cut grass, malty sweetness, which intensifies to a sudden burst of peat. A definite aperitif.

Dalwhinnie 15 y.o. 43.0% £13.00

EDRADOUR

The smallest distillery in Scotland, it is located at the hamlet of Balnauld above Pitlochry. The water rises through granite and peat. A minty, creamy malt for after dinner.

Edradour Sassicaia Finish 58.4% £16.00

GLENMORANGIE

Based in the town of Tain about 40 miles from Inverness, the distilling water flows from springs on sandstone hills and flows over heather and clover, the geology contributing to the whisky's firmness of body, the flowers to its famously scenty character. Delicately spicy, in younger ages as aperitif, in older ages after dinner.

Glenmorangie 18y.o. 43.0% £23.00

Glenmorangie Sonnalta PX 46.0% £22.50

DALMORE

It is a distillery in Alness, Scotland, located about 20 mi (32 km) north of Inverness. The waters of the River Alness (River Averon), which runs through the village, are used to produce its whiskys.

Dalmore 1990/20 y.o. 50% £25.00

Dalmore Gran Reserva 40% £14.00

OBAN

One of the classic malts. Deceptively delicate at first. Perfumy with a faint hint of fruity seaweed. The lightly waxy, becoming smoky, ideal with seafood or game.

Oban 14 y.o. 43.0% £13.00

ROYAL LOCHNAGAR

The distillery is at foot of the mountains of Lochnagar, near the river Dee, not far from Aberdeen. The water flows from the small peak of Lochnagar over peat and heather. A malty, fruity, cake like malt, perfect after dinner.

Royal Lochnagar 1974, 30 y.o. 56.2% £55.00

TULLIBARDINE

Tullibardine Highland Malt Scotch whisky is generally recognised as an easy drinking malt and an ideal pre-dinner appetiser. An unchilfiltered Tullibardine from the 1988 vintage.

Tullibardine 1988 Distillery Bottling 46.0% £19.00

g malts develop a lovely peaty aroma with a hint of sweetness. The water sources are the lochs Arinambeast and Uigedale. Full-bodied and luscious with an excellent after taste a great after-dinner malt.

Ardbeg Uigeadail	54.2%	£15.00
Ardbeg 10y.o.	46.0%	£13.50

BOWMORE

Distilling since 1770, this is a light, peaty- smoky malt; a healthy middle-range Islay with medium weight and a smooth finish. Older vintages are outstanding. The water source is the River Laggan.

Bowmore 1964/37 y.o.	49.6%	£150.00
Bowmore 18 y.o.	43.0%	£18.00

BRUICHLADDICH

Bruichladdich is a great pre-dinner dram and an excellent introduction to the Islay style. A light to medium body and a good hint of smoke leaves a pleasant lingering flavour.

Bruichladdich 12 y.o.	46.0%	£16.00
Bruichladdich Organic	46.0%	£15.00

CAOL ILA

Pronounced "Koal-eela", this is light & fresh with a hint of peat. A lighter Islay with pleasing weight, round flavour & a smooth finish. A popular after-dinner dram situated on the Sound of Islay.

Caol Ila 18 y.o.	43.0%	£17.50
------------------	-------	--------

LAGAVULIN

(Lagga-voolin) A typical Islay- heavy, powerful aroma. Unmistakable. Water sourced from the Solum Lochs, this is quite heavy and very full with a delightful hint of sweetness. A gentle giant of a dram.

Lagavulin 1997/12 y.o.	57.9%	£18.00
Lagavulin 16 y.o.	46.0%	£14.00

LAPHROAIG

(La-froyg) Well balanced, peaty & smoky. Full of character, a big peaty Islay flavour with a delightful touch of sweetness that betrays it's proximity to the sea. An excellent after-dinner malt with water drawn from local mosses.

Laphroaig 25 y.o.	40.0%	£55.00
Laphroaig 10 y.o.	40.0%	£14.00

PORT ELLEN

There have been 9 official releases of Port Ellen malt since 2001 which have been very popular amongst malt whisky connoisseurs. If you have ever wanted to try Port Ellen malt whisky do not leave it too long as bottlings get rarer as time goes by.

SPEYSIDE

THE BALVENIE

Founded in 1886 this is still a family firm. The distillery still uses barley from the family farm that has its own floor maltings and stills have a distinctive bulbous shape. The most honeyish of malts, with a distinctive orangey note. Luxurious, great for after dinner.

Balvenie 21y.o. Portwood	40.0%	£26.00
Balvenie 15y.o. Single Barrel	43.0%	£15.00
Balvenie 12y.o. Double Wood	43.0%	£14.00

---------------------------------	-------	--------

GLENROTHES

Glenrothes traditionally bottle single malts from specific vintages, so this no-age-statement example raised a few eyebrows when it first appeared. However, the only thing recent batches have raised is the bar - this is tremendous easy-drinking Speyside.

Glenrothes Select Reserve	43.0%	£15.00
---------------------------	-------	--------

THE MACALLAN

The chateau of malt whisky, it is best known for its rigorous standards and its loyalty to sherry aging. The whisky has big, bold, beautifully rounded flavours, with touches of peat smoke the classic Speyside floweriness and a highly distinctive esteriness that reminds some of calvados. Tasting nutty and sweetish with fruit coming through it is best after dinner.
